

1H//459378K(039)

349.471.78

THE EUROPEAN PATENT

A EUROPEAN SUCCESS STORY FOR INNOVATION

—
PASCAL GRISET

Contents	3
General introduction	5

Emergence, embodiment and establishment of a vision From the origins to 1973

Introduction	12
1 Patents: from national to universal	15
2 Patents and European integration	39
3 From the technical to the political: the Intergovernmental Conference and the Diplomatic Conference	65
Conclusion	89

Success on an unimagined scale 1973 to the late 1980s

Introduction	96
4 The Interim Committee of the European Patent Organisation 1974–1977	101
5 The EPO turns into a reality	119
6 The Office grows and comes to an initial equilibrium	137
7 New President, new era?	161
8 The EPO at the heart of an uncertain international system	183
Conclusion	200

Adaptation, tension, a new century: the price of success From 1990 to 2010

Introduction	208
9 The Office and information technology	213
10 The European Patent Organisation: a new dimension	229
11 The Office's internal balance of power	243
12 The Protocol on Centralisation as a bone of contention	253
13 The EPO as a benchmark in key patentability issues	263
14 The EPO's role in a new phase of construction for European patents	271
15 Better co-operation, better communication – the EPO's global innovation role	281
Conclusion	290
Overall conclusion	294

Epilogue: past and future

Appendix	301
Contemporary art at the EPO	302
Statistics	306
Footnotes	308
Bibliography	321
Photo credits	322